

WITHDRAWAL OF CONSENT FORM

The Data Protection Act (DPA) 2017 establishes a data protection law that governs the collection, use, disclosure and care of personal data, such as your name, NIC, address, e-mail address and contact numbers.

You may withdraw your consent to the Controller using, disclosing and processing your Personal Data for a particular purpose(s) at any time. The purposes for which the Controller uses, discloses and processes your Personal Data are set out in our Data Protection Consent Form. Some of the purposes for which the Controller uses and shares your information are necessary to the Controller supplying services to you (or where applicable, your employer or your business). Other purposes are optional to the Controller supplying services to you.

You may withdraw your consent to purposes that are optional without withdrawing consent for necessary purposes. For instance, you may withdraw consent to the Controller sending you promotional and e-marketing materials or events without withdrawing consent to the Controller using and sharing your Personal Data for supplying services to you under your consent (or where applicable, your employer or your business) or responding to your specific request for information on our services.

The Controller will respect your decision to withdraw consent. Should you choose to withdraw consent to the Controller using, disclosing and processing your Personal Data for purposes necessary to the Controller supplying services to you, the Controller will respect your decision and will stop doing so. However, please understand that your withdrawal of consent for purposes necessary to the Controller supplying services to you may carry legal or practical consequences, over your contractual obligation, which will continue to apply and depending on the nature of your request, this may result in the Controller not being in a position to continue to provide services to you and/or your dependents.

You may in writing withdraw your consent given for any or all purposes by completing the attached form and e-mailing it to DPO@mua.mu or posting it to: Data Protection Officer, 4 Léoville l'Homme Street, Port Louis
